

Transglutaminase Specialty Reagents

transglutaminase newsletter 4-2013

We are delighted to present the 2014 edition of our catalogue!

Please find listed many new products that will support your research and development. Special features on, e.g. our microbial transglutaminase or transglutaminase inhibitors, provide valuable additional information.

For more background information regarding product features, handling and usage please consult our homepage at www.zedira.com.

Unfortunately, we have had to raise our prices by about 5%. After having kept prices for our products constant for a period of 12 years, we have now had to take into account increased general costs. Thank you for understanding.
