EyeSense names Zedira as supplier for diagnostic products

EyeSense, Grossostheim, Germany names Zedira as supplier for diagnostic products. Achim J. Müller, managing partner points out: "Zedira provides excellent skills in the optimization and production of diagnostic products. We are very satisfied with the quality combined with an excellent scientific support. EyeSense is looking forward expanding the supply agreement with Zedira".

About EyeSense

EyeSense is a spin-off of Novartis - with strong investors and great perspectives in blood glucose measurement (BGM) targeting the diabetes market. EyeSense has the goal of making BGM easier and painless, based on a highly innovative product concept: an ophthalmic diagnostics system which can measure glucose levels without sampling blood each time, solely via a non-invasive sensor technology.
